Leg Pains?

How can misalignment of spinal vertabrae result in pain in the legs. This occurs when one of the vertabrae of the lower spine is displaced and is no longer perfectly aligned with the adjacent vertabrae.

The spinal nerves that provide feeling for the legs pass through tiny passages in the spinal vertebrae. Any displacement and resultant misalignment of the vertebrae can cause compression, pinching and thus irritate the nerves. The Pain that results is felt in the legs.

lt doesn't take an expert to answer the question. The millions of tons of snow between here and Chicago is going to melt, eventually. That is a known fact. Also known is the fact that most of the water will end up in the Missistippi River, sweeping past Granite City and St. Louis.

All we can hope for is a gradual melting that the river can handle. While we all hope for warmer weather in the near future, those living near the mighty Mississippi should pray for gradual warming. A sudden hot spell now could spell disaster for many.

Itemizing deductions can. IRS suggests save money,

While the IRS encourages as many taxpayers as possible to use the simpler 1040A form, there will be millions of taxpayers who will find it to their advantage to itemize deductions on the 1040 form.

Generally, you will benefit from itemizing deductions if you paid interest and taxes on a home you own, unusually large uninsured medical and dental expenses during the year, made large contributions to qualified charitable organizations, or had major uninsured casualty losses. What this means is that you will probably have itemized deductions totalling more than the zero bracket amount appropriate to your filing

Taxpayers who itemize deductions reduce their adjusted gross income by their excess itemized deductions. Excess itemized deductions are the amount by which total itemized deductions exceed the zero bracket amount. For example, a married couple filing jointly, with itemized deductions of $5,500, would subtract their zero bracket amount of $3,400 from the $5,500 in order to determine their excess itemized deductions of $2,100.

Although adjusted gross income is reduced by only the excess itemized deductions, all deductions are allowed. This is because the zero bracket amount is incorporated into the tax Tables and the Tax Rate Schedules non-business deductions. If you itemize your deduc-tions, you must file Form 1040 and fill in Schedule A (Form 1040). Schedule A provides space for listing deductible medical and dental expenses, charitable contributions, taxes, interest paid, casualty or theft losses. miscellaneous items such as union dues.

Itemized deductions are

If you itemize, you should keep a record of your deductible items, including cancelled checks and receipts. This will verify your expenses should the Internal Revenue Service examine your return. It will also help you determine whether your itemized deductions are greater than your zero bracket amount.

Taxpayers who itemize can take advantage of many deductible expenses. Here's a brief explanation from the IRS of some types of deductions available: Charitable Contributions

Generally, you may deduct contributions you paid to any qualified organization established organization established and operated exclusively for charitable, religious, educational, scientific, or literary purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; fraternal organizations if the contributions are used for charitable purposes; to veterans' organizations; or to governmental agencies that will use the gifts exclusively for public pur-

This means that you may deduct your contributions to most religious organizations, a com-munity fund, Boy Scouts, the YMCA, the Red Cross, the American Cancer Society, CARE, Veterans of Foreign Wars, etc. You may not deduct contributions to civic leagues or chambers of commerce.

If you donate property other than money, you must base your deduction on the fair market value of the property, that is, the amount you could reasonably charge if you were selling the property. Bear in mind that a contribution is only a contribution at the time of its delivery. Pledges are not contributions until you make payment. Also, if a contribution results in a personal benefit, all or part of it may not be deductible. For example, if you buy a $50 ticket for a church benefit and receive a meal at the function worth $15,

Part-time and lowincome workers may be entitled to receive more money in each paycheck. If you had no income tax liability in 1981 and expect to have no income tax liability in 1982, you qualify to have no federal income tax deducted from your paycheck, the Internal Revenue Service says.

To request this, you must give your employer a new Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," claiming claiming exemption from withholding. This stops federal income tax from being deducted from your pay. It has no effect on your Social Security (FICA) tax deduction. Students who work part-time or only during the summer may qualify to claim exemption from withholding.

The advantage of this procedure, according to the IRS, is that a taxpayer who files a tax return only to receive a full refund of money withheld may not have to file a return since no tax was withheld from Forms W-4 claiming exemption from withholding expire on April 30 of each year. A new Form W-4 must be filed by that date.

If an employee, even one qualified for the exemption, neglects to file a Form W-4, the employer is required by law to withhold income tax, based on zero withholding allowances. The law requires employees who are not having federal income tax withheld this year, but expect to have a tax liability next year, to give their employer a new Form W-4 by December. The new Form W-4 should show the number of withholding allowances the taxpayer wishes to claim. To determine the legal number of withholding allowances allowed, the employee should check the chart on the back of the Form W-4

HERE IS THE REA

A new trend is sweeping the country in buying beef for home freezers. Swinging carcass beef is being replaced by vacuum packed beef portions in a box simply called Boxed Beef. With Boxed Beef you buy only the portions of the beef you want to serve your family.

All of the excess bone and waste plus seldom used cuts such as soup bones and boiling meat are trimmed away by skilled meat cutters in ultra-modern beef processing plants. After the beef portions are vacuum sealed with a patented process, the portion is boxed and shipped on refrigerated trucks direct to our meat

Next time you're thinking of a large beef purchase for your home freezer or a special occasion, such as large cook-outs and parties, ask us about the quality, value and just plain good sense in our Boxed Beef program.

THE OLD WAY TO BUY BEEF.

We've all seen or heard of the hanging beef carcass that used to be transported by truck and transferred to meat coolers for cutting. Only skilled butchers could cut these carcasses properly, but even then there was 28 to 32 percent waste in unuseable bone and fat. There are still some supermarkets that utilize hanging carcass beef, but the trend to Boxed Beef and its economies is eping the country.

DISADVANTAGES:

- Excess bone and waste must be trimmed before cutting.
 Thirty percent higher transportation cost is a waste of fuel energy.
 Paying for 28 to 32 percent waste that never
- reaches your freezer.
- 4. Price per pound is less but take home meat is higher in cost.

 5. Weight loss is due to open air exposure

THE NEW WAY TO BUY BEEF.

Boxed Beef is only the useable portions of the carcass skillfully trimmed and packaged through ultra-modern processing, then vacuum sealed and boxed for esse of handling. Cutting these portions to desired roasts and ste housewives across the country prepare the boneless cuts to their own requirements right in their kitchens. What a fine way to get just exactly the cuts you need and save dollars on quality beef at the same time. However, on any Boxed Beef purchase you make with us we gladly cut and wrap it to your own specifications.

ADVANTAGES:

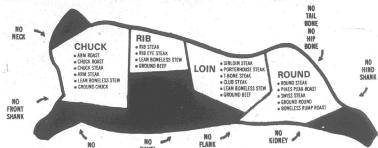

- Boxed Beef is naturally aged, thanks to its patented vacuum wrapping.
- 2. More sanitary less bacteria
- You buy meat without the surplus waste fat and bone.

 You save money in buying meat instead of
- bone, fat, and trimmings.

 5. Quality controlled beef. Only the best beef is selected to go in the Boxed Beef program.

 6. You can buy only the part of the beef that

M- PRESS RECORD TAX QUIDE T Monday, February 8, 1982. Many common misconceptions about IRS audits, procedures

Over the years, many taxpayers have come to believe as fact some misconceptions about the Internal Revenue Service. Unfortunately, these misconceptions cause taxpayers needless apprehension and worry.

The IRS is a large agency, and the tax law is complex - a combination which might baffle or overwhelm the average person. The following in-formation, hopefully, may serve to dispel some of the common misconceptions:

Using the peel-off address label will trigger an audit

The printing on the label just speeds up processing. It helps in identifying taxpayers and the kind of forms contained in the tax package they receive; it does not in any way indicate that your return should be audited. As a matter of fact, use of the label can help speed up a refund

Once audited, always audited.

IRS makes a special effort NOT to keep auditing the same people over and over. In fact, IRS has a special program that in-sures that no taxpayer is audited two years in a row on the same issue when there was no change to the tax liability.

An IRS mistake can NEVER be straightened

If repeated attempts to solve a tax problem through normal IRS channels are unsuccessful. taxpayers should write the Problem Resolution Office.

A mistake on a return triggers an audit.

Generally, math errors are corrected by computer at the Service Center and do not generate an audit. The adjustment is also automatic, increasing or decreasing taxes refunds as appropriate.

Tax on a "long" form is not the same as tax on the "short" form.

Because of situations, some taxpavers must use the 1040 Form, often called the "long form. However, the - tax tables for both Form 1040 and Form 1040A are the same. Taxpayers would not pay more tax simply because they chose to use one form over another.

IRS agents and revenue officers work on commission and quotas.

IRS employees, like other government employees, work on a salaried basis. The amount of money they "collect" or don't "collect" in no way influences the amount of paychecks. IRS. employees also do not work on quotas since this is strictly forbidden by IRS rules and regulations.

Anyone who is audited will end up owing more tax.

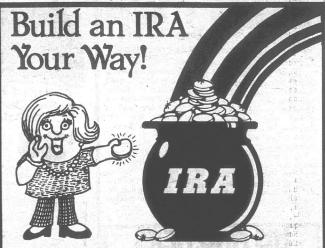

The outcome of an audit is one of three possibilities: additional assessment, an additional tax refund, or a "no-change" case. It is not certain that a person who is audited will have to pay more tax, but it is a possibility.

These are certainly not all of the misconceptions people have about the IRS. Many of these incorrect notions could be clarified if a taxpayer only took the time to get free publications from IRS

The new Individual Retirement Accounts give almost everybody the chance to build retirement security.

Taxpayers who take certain steps to save energy in their homes can cut their income tax bills by up to $4,300, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The law provides for a tax credit of up to $300 for energy conservation materials installed in the home, with a separate credit of as much as $4,000 for taxpayers who install "renewable" energy source devices such as solar or wind equipment.

The credit for energy conservation items is figured at 15 percent of the first $2,000 spent on such items as storm or thermal windows and doors, insulation, weather-stripping and caulking. Also qualifying are turnace replacement burners, flue-opening modifications, electrical or mechanical ignition systems to replace gas pilot lights, and clock ther most ats. Only materials installed in homes which were sub-stantially completed before April 20, 1977 are eligible for the credit for energy conservation costs.

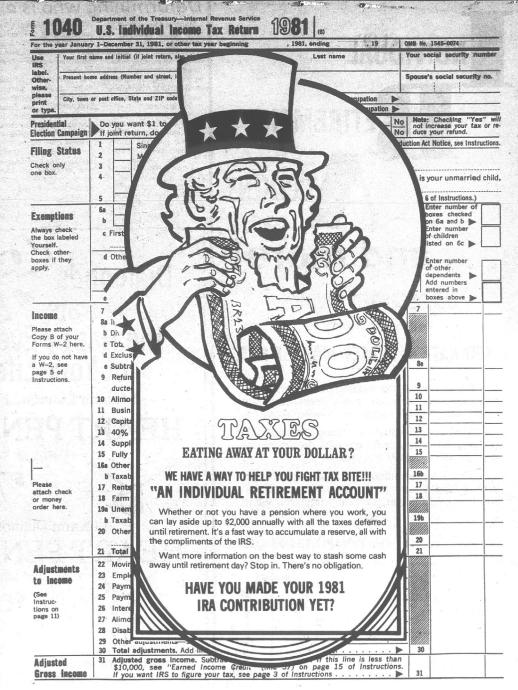

According to the IRS, the "renewable" energy source credit is 40 percent of the first $10,000 invested in qualifying solar, wind or geothermal equipment used to heat, cool or provide hot water or electricity for use in the home.

Both credits are available for items purchased and installed on a taxpayer's principal residence between April 20, 1977, and December 31, 1985. The "renewable" energy credit is available for both existing and newly constructed homes. Renters as well as homeowners are eligible for the credit.

Taxpayers need not itemize deductions to claim the residential energy tax credit. They do, however, have to file Form 1040 attaching IRS Form 5695, showing how the credit was computed. Form 5695, 'Residential Energy Credit'' is available by using the mail-order comons in the tax nackage.

coupons in the tax package. No credit is allowed on any return for any taxable year if the credit is less than $10. Any unused energy credits may be carried over to the extent the credit is more than the taxpayer's tax liability. The period for carryover of unused credits extends through 1987.

For additional information, taxpayers can order the free IRS Publication 903, "Energy Credits for Individuals," by using the handy order form in the tax package.

Credit for job-related relocation

Many expenses incurred in a job-related move may be deductible on 1981 income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service

Moving expenses which can be deducted include the cost of travel to the new location; moving of household goods and personal effects; pre-move, house-hunting trips; temporary living costs at the new location; and certain expenses related to the disposition of an old residence and acquisition of a riew one.

The maximum deduction for these last three items is $3,000. In addition, the distance between a taxpayer's new job and old home must be at least 35 miles, farther than the former home was from the former job.

Eligible taxpayers can claim the moving expense deduction whether they itemize deductions or not Expenses are reported on Form 3903, "Moving Form 3903, "Moving Expense Adjustment," which should be filed with Form 1040.

For more information, taxpayers can order the free IRS Publication 521, "Moving Expenses," using the order blank included in the tax package sent by the

Deduct job

Expenses for education relevant to your current employment are likely to be deductible, the Internal Revenue Service says.

To qualify, the expenses must meet at least one of two specific guidelines. Taking the course of study must be mandatory for continuance in your current employment status - for example, a teacher required to take a course to retain a teaching position. If not, the course must be helpful in maintaining or improving skills which are required in your present employment — for in-stance, a television repairman taking a special ourse to keep up with the latest changes.

However, the cost of certain educational experiences are not deductible. Expenses

Figures must be on correct line

When filing their 1981 federal income tax return, taxpayers should make sure that income, deductions, credits and other tax item figures are listed on the correct line, the Internal Revenue Service

When the return is processed, transcribers pick up figures from each block for input into a computer. If the figure is listed on the wrong line, the error can halt the process and perhaps delay a education that prepares you for a new trade or such as a journalist studying law may not be deducted, even if the education is required or beneficial in your present employment. Similarly, the expense for study to help you meet the educational minimum requirements for your current position is not an allowable deduction; for example, a full-time engineering student who has a part time job in a minor engineering capacity.

tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees, and similar items, and certain travel and transportation costs. Except for reimbursed expenses included in income, travel, and transportation, educational expenses are an itemized deduction and should be listed on Schedule A (Form 1040) as a miscellaneous deduction. Travel, transportation, reimbursed expenses, and all outside salesperson's educational expenses are deducted as an adjustment to income.

Additional information on educational expense appears in free IRS ublication 508, "Educational Expenses available by using the mail-order form in your tax package.

Cab drivers, waiters, beauticians, and other service-oriented emplovees should be aware that their tips are subject to federal income, Social Security or Railroad Retirement taxes, and must be included as part of income, the Internal Revenue Service savs

Failure to correctly report gratuities can result in penalty equal to 50 percent of the tax, according to the IRS.

Libraries may copy unusual tax forms

Taxpayers needing a form which is not included in their federal income tax packages may find that they can make a copy of the form from a set of reproducible federal tax forms available at many libraries, Internal Revenue Service

The IRS developed

"Reproducible Federal Tax Forms for Use in Libraries," in an effort to increase the public's accessability to federal tax forms and schedules. This set of reproducibles contains a selection of in-dividual and partnership tax forms, schedules, and separate instructions, separate according to the IRS.

Although use of the reproducible forms in free, the IRS says, public libraries often require a nominal machine charge per copy.

Other walk-in options available to taxpayers when the need for a form or schedule arises are local banks and post offices.

Forms may also be or-dered using the handy order blank included in the tax package, the IRS said.

Taxpayers may contribute to candidates

Taxpi yers filing a federal tax return may have a part in financing the 1984 Presidential Election Campaign, the Internal Revenue Service says.

When filing their 1981 federal tax returns, taxpayers may designate a dollar of their taxes to the 1984 campaign by checking the appropriate box or boxes on the tax return form

On a joint return, the decision to make this designation is available to both spouses. One may choose to designate, while the other may decline, or both may designate or decline. A designation of a dollar of tax money to the fund will not increase a tax bill, nor decrease a refund, according to the IRS.

The Presidential Election Campaign Fund was established in 1971 to enable the American public to take part in the nation's most expensive political campaign. Only those candidates qualifying under the Federal Election Commission's guidelines can receive monies from the fund.

For further information on designating to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund, or tax credits for political contributions, taxpayers should refer to IRS free Publication 585, "Volun-tary Tax Methods to Help Finance Political Cam-paigns." This publication can be ordered by mail using the order form in the tax package.

Only parent with custody earns credit

Separated and divorced parents are subject to certain tax regulations when claiming children as dependents, the Internal Revenue Service points

Since each child can he claimed by only one parent, generally the parent with custody of the child for the greater part of the year is entitled to the dependency deduction.

But there are two exceptions to the rule based upon terms of the divorce decree or other agreement and the amount con-tributed to the child's support by the parent without custody.

Divorced or separated parents should check the details of these exceptions in their tax instructions before either parent claims the children as dependents. Information is available in IRS Publication "Exemptions," and IRS Publication 504, "Tax Information for Divorced or Separated Individuals." Married filing a separate

- You receive tips from which Social Security tax was not withheld:

- You were in business for yourself and had net earnings of $400 or more from that business. This is called "self-employment income;"

You had unearned income of $1,000 or more, such as dividends or interest from savings accounts, and can be claimed as a dependent by someone else. This is particularly important to students.

- You receive advance Earned Income Credit payments.

You must also file a return to obtain a refund of any income tax withheld.

Errors on return may be corrected

Suppose that, after filing your return, you realize that you made an error. You accidentally forgot to report some income, or claimed the wrong number of exemptions.

The Internal Revenue Service advises that such errors may be corrected by preparing Form 1040X, "Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return," and sending it to the address shown on the instructions for that form.

Q. I thought I had paid my taxes, and now I've received a notice from the IRS saying I owe more. How can that be? A. There may be several reasons. You may not have had enough tax withheld from each paycheck, or perhaps an error was made in the preparation of your tax return. If you are selfemployed you may have missed making the required quarterly estimated tax payments.

Q. The IRS says I owe more tax, but I don't agree. What can I do? . If you think that the bill is wrong, notify the IRS immediately — in writing, by telephone, or in a personal visit to a local IRS office. Be sure to have available any records which support your claim, such as cancelled checks or tax returns.

Q. Do I have to pay the entire amount of delinquent tax immediately?

A. If possible. The employee handling your collection case will review financial in-formation which you provide to the IRS and determine whether the full amount can be paid at once, or if you qualify for an installment payment plan. Q. What if I don't pay the IRS after they notify me that I owe delinquent taxes'

A. When an individual owes more tax, a bill is sent with payment due more bills and telephone call may also follow. If a taxpayer neglects or refuses to pay taxes or to make satisfactory arrange-ments for payment, a levy may be issued against the taxpayer's salary, wages, bank accounts, or com-missions. During the levy process, if the tax bill is paid in full or an acceptable installment agreement is reached, ordinarily the levy will he released

Q. What rights do I have during the collection proceedings?

A. You, as a taxpayer, have several basic rights during all collection-related activities. They include representation, the transfer of a tax case to another geographical area when your area residence changes, receipts from the IRS for cash payments and copies of all contractual arrangements, confidentiality of tax mat-ters, and the elimination of a penalty with reasonable cause.

Q. Where can I get more detailed information about the collection process?

A. More information is available in IRS Publication 586A, The Collection Process (Income Tax Accounts) available free by using the order form in your tax package.

Q. I received a bill from IRS for some additional tax and paid the amount in full. However, after going over my records I found some documents to verify that I owe less tax. What can I do?

RELAX

A. If your records now show that you overpaid your tax you should file an amended return, Form 1040X. Amended U.S. Individual Income

There are a number of tax credits that could lower your tax bill. Check your tax instructions for details.

Tax preparer should Deduction for be chosen with care

The choosing of a preparer by taxpayers to do their federal income tax returns should be done carefully and wisely, the Internal Revenue Service

Most tax return preparers are honest and do not deliberately attempt to defraud either their clients or the IRS. However, a few misuse the responsibility of preparing a tax return for someone else, and the IRS has suggestions on how to identify these preparers.

Taxpayer should not sign a blank return, or one which is partially complete, or one prepared in pencil. These could be altered by the preparer. Form 1040 and 1040A preparers should be asked to sign and date the return in the taxpayer's presence, and give his or her iden number, as required by law. The taxpayer must be furnished a copy of the completed return.

Preparers who promise a refund, claim a special relationship with the IRS, or boast of ways to beat the tax system should be avoided by the taxpayer.

The choosing of a preparer is particularly important because the taxpayer, not the preparer. is responsible for the accuracy of the tax return. As much care should go into the choosing of a tax preparer as the selection of attorney, doctor, or any professional service. according the IRS.

bad debts can be claimed

Taxpayers who lost money in 1981 due to a bad debt transaction may be entitled to a deduction their federal income tax Internal the return, the Inter Revenue Service says.

The bad debt deduction may be claimed only if the debt arose from a true debtor-creditor relation-ship based on a legal obligation to pay a fixed sum of money, according to the IRS.

Generally, taxpayers who lend money to their children who later default on payment are not entitled bad debt deduction, since the IRS regards loans to children as gifts in most cases. However if the taxpayer can produce convincing evidence that a debtor-creditor relationship legally existed, the deduction may be allowed.

Special deductions for seniors offered

Older Americans are special because of their knowledge and experience. They are also in a unique situation financially. Many are retired and living on fixed incomes. Making ends meet is becoming increasingly difficult. To assist this rapidly growing segment of the nation's population, the tax laws offer a number of special tax benefits.

For instance, anyone 65 or older is entitled to an extra exemption of $1,000. This means an automatic additional reduction to income of $1,000 for single persons, and $2,000 for a married couple, both 65 or older, who file a joint return

Do senior citizens have to file at all? In some cases, yes, since filing a tax return has nothing to do with age; it's income that decides that question.

Single persons 65 or over do not have to file a federal income tax return if their income was less than $4,300. The limit for a married couple, filing a joint return, with only one spouse 65 or older, is $6,400; $7,400 if both spouses are 65 or over. For tax purposes, persons are considered to be 65 on the day before their 65th bir-An important benefit to keep in mind, is that Social Security payments are not taxable. The same holds true for Railroad Retirement benefits.

Another special benefit is ne "Credit for the Elderly." The credit can in some cases, but not all, reduce taxes owed by as much as $375 for single persons and $562.50 for married couples who file a joint return. Although the credit generally applies to persons 65 or older, it is available to those under 65, 65 or older, it is if they have a taxable pension from a public retirement system.

Senior citizens who are thinking about selling their personal residence should consider the once-in-alifetime $100,000 or $125,000 exclusion of the gain on the sale of their home. If you sold your home before July 20, 1981, the exclusion is limited $100,000. For homes sold after that date however the exclusion is up to $125,000. An awareness of the tax consequence is essential before selling a personal residence at any age, but doubly so for those age 55 or older to whom this benefit applies.

Volunteers aid many in preparing returns

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program is sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service to provide free tax assistance to low income, non-English speaking and taxpayers with special needs. Volunteers prepare basic federal tax returns for taxpayers at local community sites. The following questions and answers explain this service:

Q. Who provides this free tax assistance?

A. The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program is staffed by volunteers trained by the Internal Revenue Service.
Volunteers include members of various civic and social action organizations, religious groups, college students, military personnel, bilingual persons, and other interested individuals.

Q. Just what is a basic tax return?

A. Form 1040A or 1040 which does not involve complicated tax issues such as capital gains, business expenses and the like.

Q. Why should I go to VITA for help?

A. Many taxpayers find it convenient to visit a VITA center because of location. Centers are set up during the filing session in neighborhood churches, schools, libraries, civic centers and store fronts, making them easy to get to Also, some taxpayers simply feel comfortable dealing with volunteers in their own neighborhood.

Q. What should I bring with me when I go to a VITA center?

A. You should bring this year's tax package which you received in the mail, the interest statements you received from your bank (Form 1099), a copy of last year's tax return if available, and any other relevant information concerning your income and expenses.

Q. What kind of training have the VITA assistors received?

A. VITA assistors attend an IRS training session three-to-five days in length. This session emphasizes basic income tax preparation involving step-by-step completion of Forms 1040 and 1040A. Assistors are also provided with information about tax benefits such as earned income credit, child care credit, and the tax credit for the elderly.

Q. How can I find out if there's a VITA center near my home?

A. Call the IRS Tax
Information number listed in your telephone directory, under U.S. Government — Internal Revenue Service.

IRS will compute the tax

Taxpayers who file Form 1040A may choose to have the IRS compute their taxes regardless of the amount of adjusted gross income, the IRS says. The same tax computation service is offered to taxpayers who file Form 1040, whose adjusted gross income is not more than $50,000, and who do not itemize deductions or use income averaging.

To qualify for IRS computations of the tax, income must be from wages, salaries, tips, dividends, interest, pensions, or annuities.

All the taxpayer has to do is complete limited portions of either return, attach all W-2 earnings, statements, and sign and mail the return by April 15, 1992. The IRS will compute the tax, complete the return and forward any refund due. If additional tax is due, the IRS will bill the taxpayer and no interest or penalty will be charged if the bill is paid within 30 days or by April 15, whichever date is later.

The tax return instructions explain which sections of the return to complete so the IRS can compute the tax.

Deduct property loss

Taxpayers are eligible for immediate tax relief if they incur property losses as a result of floods, volcanoes, hurricanes, droughts, or other sudden and unexpected events, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Those in areas declared disasters by the President of the United States can deduct their losses either on their current year's taxes or the prior year's return. Non-business losses may be claimed only when the partial or complete destruction of property resulted from a casualty, a casualty is an identifiable event that is sudden, unexpected, or unusual in nature, the IRS explains.

Losses to business property are generally deductible in full while non-business losses are deductible only in the amount exceeding $100. Deductions are not allowed for the portion of any loss reimbursed or expected to be reimbursed by insurance or other compensation. Individuals can file for the prior years by completing Form 1040X, "Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return." and submitting it to the IRS. Corporate taxpayers should use From 1120X, "Amended U.S. Corporation Income tax Return."

Taxpayers should compile lists of those items damaged or destroyed, and determine their value immediately before and after the loss occurred. Before and after photos of the damaged property and judgments of appraisers are helpful in establishing the amount of loss, according to the IRS.

Taxpayers who need help in claiming disaster losses should read two helpful free IRS booklets, Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualties, and Thefts," and Publication 584, "Disaster and Casualty Loss Workbook" which are also available by using the mail-order form in your tax package.

Pre-addressed labels can avoid errors

Many simple errors that can cause weeks of delay in the processing of federal income tax returns could be avoided if taxpayers used the label and envelope that accompany their tax package, the Internal Revenue says.

The peel-off label, which contains the taxpayer's name, address and Social Security number, is designed to expedite processing at IRS Service Centers and prevent common errors that can delay issuance of refund checks.

One of the common and yet most troublesome errors that can be averted by use of the label is the listing of an incorrect or illegible Social Security number. Such an error can take weeks or even months to correct, according to the IRS, and is one of the major causes of delayed refund checks.

The IRS advises taxpayers to use the label, even if corrections are necessary. If such is the case — due to a change of address, for example — the correction should be made directly on the label.

Errors can also be averted if taxpayers use the special pre-addressed envelope, which speeds sorting of tax returns during the annual deluge of mail that arrives at the ten IRS service centers.

Hobbies can produce tax liability, if profitable

Hobbies! Most of you have at least one, whether it be sewing, bowling, gardening, gourmet cooking, or making pottery. Hobbies are designed to give us personal satisfaction—and in some cases, extra income.

As any tourist can tell you, many persons are into crafts. Any gift store has a sizable stock of handmade items which tickle the fancy of most shoppers. Although these craft items were made as a hobby, the income derived from them is taxable income for federal tax purposes, the Internal Revenue Service points out.

Many people breed and sell animals as a hobby; others farm a few acres of land while working a fulltime job elsewhere. It's important that you know how the IRS sees the difference between a hobby and business. Generally, a hobby is more for pleasure than for business, and losses from a hobby are not deductible. A business hobbyist is allowed to deduct operating expenses, but no more than the amount of taxable income the business generates. In order to claim your activity as a business rather than a hobby, you must be able to show that the activity was for the specific purpose of making a profit. You must conducted have business as a hard-headed, Profit-motivated person would; that is, advertising, promoting, doing what you can to maximize sales and minimize costs. If you run your business from your basement, for example, you must be able to prove (except for certain storage use) that the basement was not used for any other purpose in order to claim the home office deduction.

With respect to hobbies, if you make items for sale at such events as flea markets, for instance, you must report the income derived from the sales.

As in any federal tax situation, the keeping of good records is a must. This is as much for your benefit as for the government. Many activities that began as a simple hobby blossomed into a business venture. Any equipment you purchase for your business may be subject to depreciation, a plus for your tax situation.

The IRS has Publication 525, "Taxable and Non-taxable Income," available free by using the handy order form in your tax package.

Only 1 may claim exemption

Even though several persons may together contribute over half of an individual's support, only one taxpayer can claim a dependency exemption for that individual, the Internal Revenue Service says says.

If no one person in a family contributes more than one-half of the cost of supporting an individual, but together they provide more than half, the group should choose one of its members to claim the exemption. The person claiming the exemption must have contributed more than 10 percent of the total support and must meet all other dependency tests, according to the IRS.

tests, according to the IRS. The remaining contributors in the group must complete and sign Form 2120, "Multiple Support Declaration," stating that they will not claim the exemption that year. The forms are filed with the income tax return of the person claiming the exemption,

Additional information on exemptions for dependents is contained in IRS Publication 50f, "Exemption," available free from IRS. Taxpayers may use the order form in the tax package.

Forms available at many locations

Tax lessons given students

High school students graduate with knowledge of traditional subjects such as math, history and English literature, but thanks to an Internal Revenue Service program called "Understanding called Taxes," they can also learn about how to fill out a tax return.

"Understanding Taxes,"

free instructional program reaching millions of students, is designed to teach students when they must file a tax return, the correct form and supporting schedules to use, and, generally, how to fill out the form.
Since most students will have limited income and probably first file the simpler one-page Form offered in the course. Students also gain the experience of preparing the returns based on "practice" situations. The course does not stop with the 1040A, however.

The regular 1040 form and accompanying schedules also are covered extensively. Teachers explain when it pays to itemize deductions on Schedule A, and they cover listing interest and dividend payments on Schedule B. The Schedule B. The "Understanding Taxes" course also touches on the merits of filing singly or jointly when married, declaring estimated taxes, and correcting or amending previous returns.

In addition, students learn how our tax system works, how it is administered by the IRS, and receive a brief overview of to how the U.S. budgetary system operates.

The "Understanding The "Understanding Taxes" course usually lasts four to six weeks in most high schools. All most figh schools. An imaterials for teaching the course are supplied free by the IRS to participating schools, including study guides, teachers' manuals and three films. Since the course is taught within the school's ongoing curriculum — often during a portion of a government or economics class students can earn credit for taking it.

If you or your school is interested in learning more about how to offer an "Understanding Taxes" course, write to the local IRS Taxpayer Education Coordinator

Some may need to estimate taxes

Individuals who have income that is not subject to withholding or from which not enough tax is being withheld may have file Form 1040-ES,
"Declaration of Estimated Tax for Individuals," according to the Internal Revenue Service: Payment may be made in four equal installments or in a lump sum with the declaration. If paid in installments, the first installment must accompany the declaration.

The Internal Revenue

Service provides declaration-vouchers for the taxpayer to use to make declarations of estimated tax and to pay the in-stallments as they come due. The taxpayer mails the installment and a declaration-voucher to the Internal Revenue Service Center for the place where the taxpayer lives by the date due for that installment.

In general, a declaration is not required to be filed for 1982 if you expect that your 1981 Form 1040 or Form 1040A will show (1) a tax refund, or (2) a tax balance due of less than $200

If you are a citizen of the United States or resident of the United States, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, or American here's an old song that advises you to look for the silver lining. Certainly a good piece of advice. But here's some better advice! Save for the silver lining.

Save for the silver lining.

Save enough to line those dark clouds. It's easy. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. On the Plan, you set aside a little each payday for Bonds. And that'll chase some gloom away, right off.

But if dark skies should appear, remember, Bonds can help you find the sunny side of life.

Take stock in America.

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.

Nielsen returns to TV in spoof

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

·HOLLVWOOD LESLIE NIELSEN is back in series TV, and he's also back in the hands of the three young men who gave him his highest grossing motion picture success -

Airplane." He's starring in ABC's upcoming series, "Police Squad," created by the Squad," created by the three "Airplane" producers. Nielsen will play a detective in what is described as a spoof of TV police Nielsen is best known for his dramatic roles - who can forget him as Mr. Bracken in "Bracken's World"? — and in Hollywood he has the rare reputation of being able to handle heroes as well as villains.

Truth be told, "Airplane" was his first film comedy. and now he hopes to carry that success into the small screen.

"I like to see people laughing and enjoying themselves," said the Canadian-born Nielsen 'I'm an affectionate man with a strongly developed sense of humor

As for stardom, Nielsen is honest, "I've always loved being recognized. Sure, it can sometimes be a nuisance, but the perks are immense in terms of special treatment everywhere an actor goes. What I missed (before doing comedy) was being physically touched by people."

Incidentally, as a footnote for trivia nuts. Nielsen is the nephew of the late film star JEAN HER-SHOLT.

And speaking about Hollywood past — as the men-tion of a great such as Hersholt is bound to do — the original HOLLYWOOD sign has been put on the auction block for a mere $250,000. If you're interested, you might like to know that the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce has authenticated the sign as the real original. Nothing fake in this town, right?

RICH LITTLE'S syndicated series "The New You Asked For It" has already been given the nod for the 1982-83 season. This year's shows have yet to run out, but they're already plan-ning 150 more.

He did so well in "Rag-time" that MANDY PA-TINKIN is likely to be approved by BARBRA STREISAND as her co-star in "Yentl." the film she'll direct next year. Patinkin won a Tony for his work in "Evita."

MICKEY ROONEY hasn't worked this much since the 1930s. Besides a new TV series, "One of the Boys," due on the air (finally) this year, Mickey has already agreed to star in a musical verion of Robert Louis Stevenson's classic "Treasure Island." After his triumph in "Sugar Babies," Broadway is waiting for more.

It turns out on "Gimme a Break" that Nell has an ex-husband. BEN POWERS will portray that very role later this season. Viewers will remember Ben as Thelma's spouse on "Good Times" during that series' last season.

The memories may just be too painful for ROB-ERT WAGNER. Word is he has put his yacht, Splen-dour, up for sale.

RON HOWARD will direct buddy and fomer co-star HENRY WINKLER in "Night Shift," a dark comedy about an attendant in the county morgue. The duo has remained close friends since Ron left "Happy Days."

HOLLYWOOD HEADLINERS

By NANCY ANDERSON

Linda Gray, Sue Ellen of "Dallas," expects to present a new image in "Not In Front Of The Children," a television "Movie Of The Week" she's chosen to do because it's given her a role vastly different from that of J.R.'s well-dressed, dissolute wife.

In it she'll be seen as a not-very-gramorous woman living with a younger man and fighting to keep custody of her children.

"I don't have any fear of being sterotyped," Linda says, "because I'm in charge. I'm very versatile and it's my responsibility to show that versatility.'

She's been trying to convince the world that she's really not Sue Ellen but a woman "who has a lot more to offer" than her television creation.

She believes she's finally established her separate identity since (to quote Linda), "The first year of the show people only knew me as J.R.'s wife, the brunette on the couch.

"The second year, people greeted me as Sue Ellen. But now they call me Linda Grav.'

Even though Julie Harris is an Emmy winner, a multiple Tony winner and holder of the Donaldson and New York Drama Critics Circle awards, she makes no apology for working in the nighttime soap opera, CBS's "Knots Landing."

In fact, she says she'll come back for another sea-

"People call Barrie's works sentimental. To me. Peter Pan is very fierce."

Because of her devotion to the work of the Sea Shepherd, a ship dedicated to saving dolphins, whales and other threatened sea creatures, Jan Smithers, Bailey in "WKRP," has been given television rights to its story.

Tony Bill, she says, "has paid a lot of money" for feature film rights.

Jan hopes to co-produce and star in a television movie about the work of The Sea Shepherd with some proceeds from the project to go to the ship's support. Smithers is also trying to buy rights to a book she won't name to be produced as an animated feature.

"I won't tell you what it she says, "but reading it. I sobbed 13 times.

As for the fate of 'WKRP," she's counting on its continuance, recent low ratings notwithstanding.

As of this very moment, nobody has any idea whether or not "M.A.S.H." will go on for an 11th sea son according to Jamie Farr, who plays Cpl. Klinger, but somebody is going to have to make up their corporate minds before a contractural deadline in March.

All the contracts will end then, and, while Farr would be glad to come back for an 11th season, not Without saying specifically that Alan Alda wants to leave "M.A.S.H.," Jamie asks, "If Alan leaves, does that constitute canceling the series? It's not called

"The Alan Alda Show."
"M.A.S.H.," Farr believes, could continue successfully not only without Alda but with an almost total change of cast. In fact, he thinks, if it goes on, it will need cast changes to keep it fresh.

At the end of this season 20th Century-Fox and CBS will have four unused 'M.A.S.H." segments in inventory which, as Jamie points out, could be used for a fragmented season. "I believe you could carry the show on," says Farr, "with some of us, all of us or none of us, but as of now neither the network nor the studio has asked any of us to renew.

"The question is: Does 20th Century-Fox want to end the war?

"I've heard rumors that network wants "M.A.S.H." to stay on at any cost."

When Jane Fonda, producer of the fledgling ABC-TV series "Nine To Five." was asked in a press conference why none of the principals are black. Rita Moreno, a star of the show piped up, "Forget about the NAACP. When was the last time you saw a Hispanic starring in a television series?

Moreno is so outspoken she cheerfully admits that she's 50 and has very seriously suggested to Fonda that "Nine to Five" include an episode about the af-fects of menopause upon a woman's professional productivity.

So far, ABC has ordered only four episodes of the series which also stars Dolly Parton's sister, Rachel Dennison and Valerie Curtin.
